FIRST DAY OF SUMMER IS JUNE 20!

Summer is the time for farmers’ markets offering a bounty of fruits and vegetables, all grown locally. Google words like “Certified Farmers Market” and the location desired. All established Certified Farmers Markets organizations should have an individual website with current update information about the farmers markets they operate.

Summer is a great time to dine outdoors, but being near the coast, bring a jacket. It can cool off faster (and get colder) than you might expect.

Death Valley has a well-earned reputation as one of the hottest places on earth, with its highest recorded temperature 134°F and annual highs more than 120°F.

In early summer, the cloudy “marine layer” hangs around over the coast all day long. It can happen even as far south as San Diego. It happens so often there’s a name for it: June Gloom. In some years, it continues into July.

Yosemite High Sierra Camps and Sequoia High Sierra Camp are open only in summer.

Summer weather is usually dry and pleasant. Check the average temperatures and rainfall.
SUMMERTIME SAFETY TIPS AND REMINDERS

KEEP YOUR KIDS SAFE AROUND THE POOL THIS SUMMER

The pool is a common place for neighbors to chill out over the summer. So grab your beach towel and get your mingle on! Here are some pieces of advice to help you have fun and be safe during pool season:

• Never leave children in the pool unattended – not even for a quick run to the bathroom.

  Make note of where the pool drains, pipes and openings are located. Children should stay away from any parts of the pool that have suction features.

• Make sure your kids know the pool rules – generally, no running, diving, jumping or splashing other guests – and keep your eyes on them.

• Broken glass and bare feet are a dangerous combination, so only bring cans, or transfer your drinks to plastic cups before going to the pool.

• Clean up after yourself. Pick up your trash and don’t leave anything behind.
